Schedule-ITransfer policy for Ministerial staff in District judiciary Of Nagaland.*Background :

The subordinate judiciary comprises of two components. The first is the members of judicial service and the second one is the Ministerial Officers and staff of the establishment of subordinate courts. Under articles 235 of the constitution of India, the control of the district courts and the courts subordinate thereto has been vested in the high Court. The control in this article means disciplinary control. The main object of this article is to maintain independence of Judiciary. This aspect is succinctly dealt with by the supreme court in the state of west Bengal Vs Nripendra Nath Barchi, AIR 1956 SC 117, and all controversy, relating over the control over the distinct courts and the courts subordinate thereto, is set to rest.

Thereafter, another question, which haunts the legal fraternity till 1992 is whether the high court have any disciplinary control over the second component that is the ministerial officers and staff of the establishment of subordinate courts. The article is silent in this regard, in the aforementioned case, Nripendra Nath Barchi was a member of Judicial service and therefore, the aforesaid question did not arise for decision. Then in the year 1978 a full bench of the Gujarat high court, in R.M.Gujar Vs state, AIR 1978 GUJ 102, considered the question and took a view that the word "Court" in article 235 of the constitution has been used comprehensively, in the widest sense and was not confined only to the presiding Judge but also to other functionary and ministerial staff of the court, and thus the control vested in the High court Under Article 235 of the constitution is exercisable not only to the members of Judicial service as define Under articles 236 (b) on the constitution but also on the ministerial officers and Servants of the establishment of subordinate courts. When appeal was filed by R.M Gujar against the aforesaid judgment of the full court, the supreme court in its judgment reported in (1992) 4 SCC 10 endorsed the view taken by the full bench. Thus the question referred above also set at rest.

Relied upon the ratio, laid down by the Supreme court in the aforesaid two cases, High court also in M.M Sarkar Vs state of Assam Civil rule No. 3569 of 1993 and the district & Sessions Judge Barpeta Vs Shri Binanda Chutia, Civil rule No 3570 of 1993, held that control under 235 of the constitution vested in the High Court over the district courts and the courts subordinate thereto in the state not merely extended to the members of the judicial service but also to members of the ministerial staff working in such district courts and the court subordinate thereto for the purpose of ensuring independence of Judiciary.

Based up on aforesaid settled principles of Law, First exercise of transferring some of the staffs of subordinate courts of Assam was carried out in the years 2012 in public interest, in order to improve the efficiency of justice delivery system and for restoring the confidence of the litigant public. But this exercise gave raise to some other controversies and thereby necessitating formulation of a transfer policy.

The Object of Transfer Policy

Transfer is an incidence of Service which is usually done in Public interest for improving the efficiency of the system. Ordinarily, Ministerial staff is not transferred frequently. But for Judiciary, the exercise is perhaps necessary to improve, the quality of Justice delivery system, maintaining discipline, and to remove deficiency of the ministerial staff working in various District Courts. keeping the above objective in mind the transfer Policy for the ministerial staff in the Judiciary of Nagaland, other than group-D employees is formulated as under:

- i. Unlike Judicial Officers, the transfer of employees of subordinate Judiciary may not be done in a routine manner for the time being. It may be done in public interest and in the event of immediate necessity.
- ii. The transfer may be need based and in administrative exigency for the time being and may not be done in every three years as the lack of infrastructure for residential accommodation for staff in every station.

- iii. The High Court may take necessary step in due course to provide residential accommodation to staff in future, so that employees can be transferred like Judicial Officers, in regular interval.
- iv. Since litigants come in contact first with the ministerial staff in Courts so every staff is required to maintain high standard of probity while discharging their functions, Any indication/ appearance of impropriety may warrant transfer of a staff from one station to another for restoring confidence of the litigants in the system.
- v. If transfer of an employee become inevitable then his place of Posting may be considered at the nearest station of his home town. This will reduce discontents to a great extend.
- vi. In the event of transfer from one District to another District seniority of the incumbent may be maintained in that District to which he is transferred. For this purpose a Gradation List, of all the employees of the State of Nagaland, may be prepared and maintained in the Kohima Bench.
- vii. As far as a practicable all transfer shall be given effect to in the month of January of the calendar year so that the children of the incumbent faces no difficulties in getting admissions either in colleges or in the schools.
- viii. Mid-term transfer, unless warranted by compelling circumstances, shall not be resorted to.
- ix. If wife of the incumbent is also an employee of any of the two establishment, then they shall be accommodate in the same station, provided vacancies are available.
- x. Transfer on request may be considered by the high court, only if there exists any valid reasons for such request, but same is subject to availability of vacancies in other District headquarter or sub- division or on mutual transfer.
- xi. Ordinarily, an employee with disability should not be transferred from one station to other, unless public interest and administrative exigencies warrants.

- xii. Transfer of an incumbent may not be considered 6(six) months before his immediate retirement, as it may cause much difficulty in getting his pension after retirement.
- xiii. On transfer, the incumbents will be entitled to TA and DA as per government rule. But if transfer is considered on the request of the incumbent, then he will not be entitled to any TA & DA.
- xiv. All proposals for transfers prepared by the Registry may be considered by a committee comprising of Judges constituted for this purpose. The number of the Judges of the committee may be determined by the Chief Justice.
